DEATH SUMMONS HENRY WALLACE

ANOTHER BREAK IN THE ORIGINAL HARING CABINET

TEXEMIC POISON FATAL TO AGRICULTURAL CHIEF

Agriculture Loses Noted Member in Death of Department Head—Founder of Wallace Publishing Company and Wallace Farmer.

Washington.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace died at the naval hospital at 4 p. m., October 25, following an operation a few days before.

The immediate cause of Wallace's death was texemic poisoning, which developed after a successful operation for the removal of his appendix and gall bladder.

The operation was performed by Lieutenant-Commander Joel T. Boone, one of the white house physicians, who pronounced Wallace on the road to recovery. The secretary took a sudden turn for the worse.

His death was not unexpected. Since the poison first began to spread widely through his weakened system, he had been unconscious and slowly growing weaker.

Mrs. Wallace and the secretary's daughters were present when he died, they having been summoned to the bedside during the day.

Secretary Wallace devoted practically his whole life and career to agriculture and its associated industries. He was student, farmer, writer, teacher and finally executive in charge of the nation's agriculture.

He was born in Rock Island, Ill., May 11, 1866, and attended Iowa State College at Ames, where he studied agriculture. After graduation he became a breeder of thoroughbred stock, particularly cattle, in Adair county. In 1893, he went back to the college as a professor in dairying and a few years later became identified with the agricultural trade paper business. He founded the Wallace Publishing company in 1895, and ever since has been editor of "Wallace's Farmer," one of the biggest farm journals of the west.

He was one of the first cabinet officers selected by President Harding in 1920.

LEGAL BATTLE TO SETTLE CALIFORNIA REFUND QUESTION

Washington. — Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is convinced a final opinion on the refund of taxes on community property in California will necessitate a lengthy legal battle. The treasury chief has on his desk recommendations of Attorney General Stone. Mellon and other treasury experts admit they are confused by the unusual elements in the case and are convinced that it cannot be settled administratively, but will call for a judicial decision.

One of the obstacles in the way of a unanimous opinion is the community property feature wherein husband and wife are invested with ownership of property. It is understood here that Attorney General Stone views the question much the same as California lawyers. There is a decided difference of opinion among treasury experts.

No matter what opinion is rendered at this time it is declared the case is inevitably due for a thorough test in the lower courts, going eventually into the supreme court of the United States.

Scientist Suicides in Hawaii

Honolulu.—Dr. John Vandenbergh, San Francisco, scientist and author, and professor of herpetology at the California Academy of Science, was found dead in his room in the Young hotel here with his throat cut and with a razor at his side. Authorities believe he committed suicide. Vandenbergh was despondent over ill health. He left San Francisco October 15, telling friends that he was going to the islands for a short rest.

One Movie Is Enough

Sioux Falls, S. D.—H. H. Oien, 81, and his wife, 83, came here from their farm near Dell Rapids and saw their first motion picture show. They do not care if they never see another. After the show, which contained a western feature and a short comedy, they said the feature picture was too violent for recreation. The comedy, they agreed, was more enjoyable.

Find Ancient Temple

Rome. — Excavations at Fiesole, which began in 1910, have now revealed the whole of a magnificent temple, built in the third or fourth century before Christ. There seems no doubt that it is the ancient "Capitalium Faesolamum," the existence of which has hitherto only been known from inscriptions.

WU BANISHED TO RULE WASTELAND

PRESIDENTIAL MANDATE SAYS WAR AT AN END

DEPOSED WAR LEADER FLEES WITH 10,000 TROOPS

Reported Aboard Troops Transport With Shangtung as Objective — Tsao's Resignation as President Is Reported.

London.—Tsao Kun, who has been virtually under armed surveillance since General Fang Tu Siang, the Christian general, renounced Wu Pei Fu's leadership and returned with his army to Peking, has resigned as president of China, according to a news agency dispatch from Peking.

Tsao Kun was reported a fugitive from Peking. Later President Tsao issued a proclamation, which followed Fang's announced pacifist intentions to the letter. His cabinet concurred in this proclamation, then resigned.

Shanghai. — A Mukden report declared that Wu Pei Fu, deposed Chihli military leader, had fled from the Shanhai Kuan district on board a troop transport which carried 10,000 of his picked troops. The report said he expected to attempt a landing at Shantung.

The complete surrender of the Chihli forces in the Shanhai Kuan sector was expected momentarily, the Mukden report said.

Peking.—Wu Pei Fu, military backer of the central government and until now the most powerful figure in all China, was virtually banished to Chinese Turkestan.

In a presidential mandate Tsao Kun declared the war against Chang Tsolin ended, abolished the army for the suppression of rebels and appointed Wu director of waste lands in Turkestan.

This action was forced on the government by the Christian general, Feng Yuh Siang, whose troops have Peking under martial law with all railway communications cut.

Wu is still fighting at the head of his personal army against Chang Tsolin on the Shanhai Kuan front and considerable apprehension exists as to how he will take his sudden undermining from absolute control of the government.

Peking remains peaceful but many heads were swinging from the gates of the city to tell the fate of those who attempted looting.

President Tsao Kun was said to have sent his resignation to parliament following the en bloc resignation of the cabinet.

Feng Yuh Siang, while denying any intention of mixing in politics, insists that the cabinet remain in office to act in place of the president should the parliament accept his resignation.

Parliament by a large vote approved the coup de etat of Feng, indicating it will support his demands for reorganization of the government.

Feng ordered the Peking-Mukden railroad to resume traffic to Tien Tsin.

ANZACS STUDYING OUR METHOD IN IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

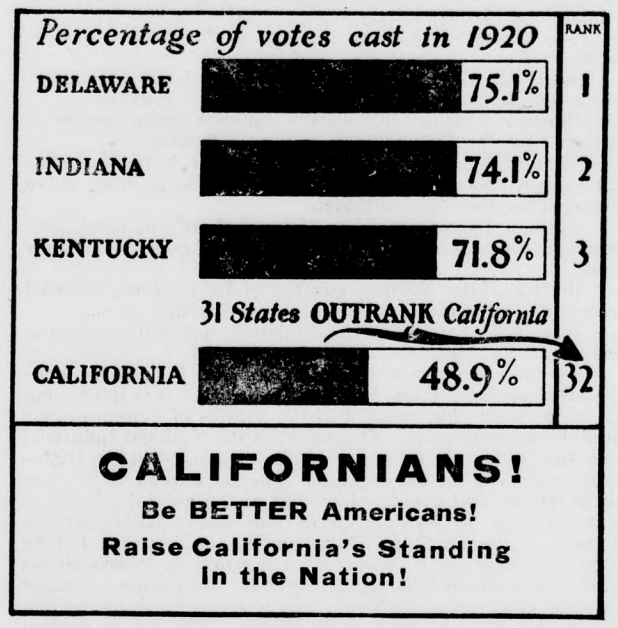
Melbourne.—Members of all parties in the commonwealth parliament are watching with keen interest the way America is meeting its immigration problem. Although it is recognized that the question of Asiatic immigration is not exactly similar to the issue of European emigration to the United States, all the effects of the Johnson bill, including the Japanese exclusion measure, are looked on as test cases which one day may be applicable to Australia.

Supporters of the "white Australia" policy protested warmly recently against the increasing number of Italians, Czechoslovakians, Maltese and other European nationalities who have been pouring into the commonwealth to fill the labor demand in the sugar and cotton fields. This was the policy on which Sir Henry Barwell, ex-premier of South Australia, practically lost the election for the National party in that state.

Second Suicide Ends Tangle

Burlingame. — Desponded over the recent tragic death of his 17-year-old adopted daughter, Marilouise, Frank R. Chambers, jr., 50, wealthy electrical dealer of this city, committed suicide by shooting himself through the temple in the house he had prepared for Marilouise at 418 Grand boulevard, San Mateo. Marilouise committed suicide in her stepfather's office on October 7.

Vote as You Please, But VOTE!



CALIFORNIANS!

Be BETTER Americans!

Raise California's Standing In the Nation!

DO YOUR BIT AS A CITIZEN, TUESDAY

A very concerted effort is being made thruout the United States to secure a much larger percentage of votes than has been cast at recent elections. It is a disgrace to the citizenry of a country like ours that the opportunity to vote is not even considered a duty, much less a privilege.

In the presidential election of 1920 there were, in round numbers, twenty-six million votes cast, and there were twenty-seven million people who had the right to vote but did not!

More than half our voters did not exercise the right of franchise!

One who will not vote may be moral, but he is not a good citizen in the full meaning of the term. Our government is based on the franchise; the very life of our government depends on voting. If no one voted our government would fail.

Less than half vote, and a majority of that minority control. In that election California's record was 943,463 votes cast; total of eligible voters (male and female) 1,928,247; number who did not vote 984,784. Every registered citizen should see that this record is more than reversed Tuesday. "Responsibility of franchise is equal with its privilege——America can only survive by an intelligent electorate that recognizes and utilizes the right of franchise.

Are you serving the state, are you pulling your weight
It is not the work of a few—
The pick of the brave and the strong—
It is He, it is I, it is You
Must drive the good vessel along.
Will you work, will you save, will you strive?
Are you ready to take off your coat?
Are you pulling your weight in the boat?

The Water and Power Act, No. 16 on the ballot, was overwhelmingly defeated two years ago. There is decided opposition and good arguments why it should be again defeated. There is considerable doubt as to the advisability of placing such a tremendous sum and power in the hands of a commission. A man will look out for the proper handling of his own money but how careful will he be with the public purse? We have often seen. The North Dakota state milling program is evidence of this and has been running at a loss. Tax payers must foot the bills of blundering commissioners and at present we are carrying about all the public can haul. The idea may be a good one but in it spresent form it seems rather to great a risk.

The Poll Tax No. 13 Amendment should be well supported as it places a just tax on many who are being greatly benefited and are paying nothing for the support or progress of those benefits.

* * *

The author of Amendment 5 on the ballot is now urging its defeat owing to an error in its framing.

A prisoner in the Sacramento county jail made a plea to Sheriff Ellis Jones that he be liberated on November 4 so that his record of fifty-one years of steady voting will not be interrupted. The prisoner, whose name Jones did not reveal, was serving a 100-day sentence that would expire after the general election.

H. J. Barton, mayor, postmaster and sole owner of Oak Bar, on the Klamath river since 1872, sold his interests to Sadie Austin and associates of Corvallis, Ore., and is moving away. Oak Bar was one of the noted gold mining cities of the early days of Siskiyou county, and in one day with pick and shovel a crew of men took $3,000 in gold from its hills. In announcing the sale Barton said that a summer resort will be constructed immediately by the purchasing syndicate.

A total of 14,412 deaths from accidents during 1923 caused by automobiles and other motor vehicles, excluding motorcycles, is shown in statistics assembled by the census bureau at Washington, covering the death registration area of the United States, which contains 87.6 per cent of the total population. This total represents a death rate of 14.9 per 100,000 people, compared with 12.5 in 1923, 12.5 in 1921 and 10.4 in 1920. California topped the list with a rate of 32.6 deaths per 100,000 population, and Wyoming was second with a rate of 24.1.

CHINA STUDY TOPIC

Sunday was observed by the Congregational church as Rally Day. At the morning service the officers and chairmen of the three C. E. societies were installed by Rev. W. E. Eckles, and Rev. Henry H. Kelsey, of the American Board of Missions, gave a review of the work being carried on by the various mission stations.

In the evening Rev. C. S. Johnson, for many years stationed at Canton, China, gave a very interesting account of conditions in his territory. His talk was a very happy introduction to the study of China as presented by Dr. Lucian C. Porter in his book, "China's Challenge to Christianity" which will be the text book of the Sunday evening study class, to which a cordial invitation is extended.

Mrs. A. R. Miller sailed Wednesday for Honolulu to join her daughter, Ruth, and sister, Mrs Benefiel They will remain in the islands about another month sightseeing.

ROOSEVELT-NAVY DAY CELEBRATED AT CAMPBELL MONDAY

High Tribute Piad Popular American

Roosevelt Day and Navy Day were very fittingly celebrated at Campbell Monday when the annual exercises were held at the Roosevelt Tree in the high school grounds.

This redwood was planted by President Theodore Roosevelt May 11, 1903 while on his tour thru the state and it has grown to be a very pretty and symetrical tree.

E. W. Allen, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Tree association acted as chairman and after a few remarks concerning the tree and the occasion of its planting introduced Will Robinson, president of the high school student body. He gave a brief history and displayed the spade used by the president at the planting. Until recently it has been the property of Mrs. Ellen R. Smith, whose husband was responsible for the event, and she has given it to the high school as one of its valued trophies.

Capt. E. L. Beach, U. S. N retired, was speaker of the day. He addressed his remarks to the students who are as he stated the hope of the country. He gave an interesting resume of Mr. Roosevelt's life and many achievements. He stated that the setting of Navy Day on his birthday anniversary was very appropriate as it was during his term as assistant naval secretary that the highest efficiency in naval marksmanship was attained. His famous remark in that day is a most appropriate slogan for all time: "The only shots that count are the shots that hit."

A squad of naval reserves was in attendance and fired the salute during the raising of the flag on its pole near the tree.

National hymns were sung by school children and the San Jose high school band played several pieces during the program.

BIG BENEFIT SHOW BY WAR VETERANS

The Disabled Veterans of the World War are planning to give a big benefit show at the Victory theatre November 20. They will be assisted by the Mission Players of Santa Clara, a 60 piece boys' band. The war mothers and nurses will assist in the ticket selling campaign.

By special request Doc Wells and his troup will play "Clouded Honor" as a part of the program.

Bobby Williams is managing the ticket selling at Campbell and is calling for volunteers to help make this a big financial success.

At a recent session of the vets Doc Wells, present state commander of the Disabled Veterans, was elected Golden Rodent of the Trench Rats the new play ground of the national veterans recently recognized and Bob Williams was elected Blue Serpent.

Doc was in Campbell this week pepping up the ticket sale for the big show.

BEKKIES' BAZZAR NOV 6

Thursday, November 6, Ada Rebekah Lodge will hold a bazarr in the banquet room of the I. O. O. F. hall, all day and evening. There will be booths for fancy work, aprons, toys, candy, fortune teller and cooked food, and a fish pond and grab bag.

Last Friday evening they had a very successful masquerade party. Prizes for various types of costume were awarded. W. M. Mason received an aluminum roaster, donated by the Farmers' Union. Mrs. Emily Gard, an aluminum pitcher from T. A. Robinson, Mr. Hendricks, a ham from Horace Lea and Mrs. J. H. Bachman a shoe shine outfit from J. A. Moore.

FRESHMAN RECEPTION

The Freshman reception this year was as usual in the form of a masquerade. The first prize for funniest costume was awarded to Mervyn Nichols, who was dressed as a flapper. The prize for the most original for girls was awarded to Annie Gurkovich, whose dress was made of burlap covered with grape and cabbage leaves and who wore cucumbers for beads. The prize for the most original of boys was given to Stephen Merrill who was dressed as a bell hop.

The festivities started off with the burning of a huge bon-fire on the athletic field, after which everyone repaired to the gym where the prizes were awarded. The different classes then presented stunts which were received with much applause. Refreshments were served and a general good time was enjoyed.

Much credit for the success of the evening is due to Beverly Davis who was chairman of the entertainment committee.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Gayno Eddlemon and Mr. Lepetich met in an auto crash Friday evening at the junction of Los Gatos road and Campbell avenue just east of the bridge. Riding with Gayno in a Marmon sedan was Albert West but neither of the boys were hurt altho the auto was badly wrecked.

Mr. Lepetich in the Studebaker commercial truck was badly cut about the head and was taken to the hospital for immediate treatment. At last report his condition was not fully determined.

GRANGERS DISCUSS CROP TOPICS

Under the head of Farm and Orchard, Stanley Smith discussed the benefits of recent rains at the grange Tuesday evening. He had found the soil was wet down about four inches. Mr. Parkhill read an interesting paper on orchard experiments. He found where the upper soil was well loosened, irrigation water would go down four feet and that lime was sometimes needed by the soil as well as other fertilizers.

A prize has been offered by H. G. Keesling for the best definition of "Education." As only a few answers have come in the contest was continued until next meeting. All wishing to participate should be sure to have their definitions in by next meeting night, Nov. 11.

The Lecturer's Hour was a social event of games and amusements. One of the stunts consisted in blindfolding a lady member, conducting her to the center of the hall where she stepped onto a board 6 feet long, placing her hands on the shoulder of a man on either side, then two assistants lifted the board just free from the floor while the men on either side stooped until her hands could not reach them, giving the impression that she was raised above them. The endeavor to keep her balance and not fall off caused a good deal of merriment. A pillow casing contest was also put on to the enjoyment of all. In the banquet hall a dozen game tables were filled by players, while others visited. Cake and candy in bountiful supply came later and all agreed they had spent a very pleasant evening.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

William H. Johnson, national manager of the La Follette campaign, was the Socialist party candidate for governor of Rhode Island in 1907 and 1908. He was chairman of a demonstration at Providence, R. I., in 1908, given in compliment to "Big Bill" Hayward.

Morris Hillquit, of La Follette's national campaign committee, is international secretary of the Socialist party. He has been a Socialist candidate for many public offices. Mr. Hillquit is quoted as saying: "There can be no absolute private title to land . . .Wage earners cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering political power and substituting collective for private ownership of land."

Dewey C. Dorman, of La Follette's national committee, was candidate of the Socialist party for state senator in North Dakota in 1912, also a member of the I. W. W.

Victor L. Berger, Socialist congressman from Milwaukee, says: "Senator La Follette has been a Socialist in everything but name for the last twenty years . . .The La Follette movement in Wisconsin has been some of the crude work of socialism."

James H. Maurer, of La Follette's national committee, was a Socialist member of the Pennsylvania legislature.

Algernon Lee, of La Follette's national committee, is an apologist for the Bolshevik revolution in Russia.

Sidney Hillman, a member of La Follette's national committee, is a Socialist of long standing and has been an active apologist for the Russian soviet.

Norman Thomas, member of La Follette's national committee, is the present Socialist candidate for governor of New York.

Bertha Hale White, member of La Follette's national committee, is secretary of the national Socialist party.

Joseph W. Scharts, of La Follette's national committee, has long been a leader of the Ohio Socialists.

For more than twenty years Senator La Follette has been the all-powerful political boss of Wisconsin. It is interesting to note what his control of the politics of Wisconsin has brought to that state. The report of the National Industrial Conference Board for a period of eleven years—1913 to 1923—supplies answer to this question. The tax burden of Wisconsin is 60 per cent greater than that of the adjoining state of Illinois; it is 40 per cent larger than that of Michigan; it is 33 per cent greater than Indiana and 30 per cent greater than Iowa. Concurrently, corporation taxation in Wisconsin—a form of tax which falls ultimately upon the public—averages twice as much as in Michigan, four times as much as in Ohio and twelve times as much as in Illinois. These facts explain why the State of Wisconsin has not in an industrial sense progressed relatively with the neighboring states.

—San Francisco Bulletin.

ROOSEVELT'S SISTER ON LA FOLLETTE

Efforts of La Follette supporters to convey an impression that Theodore Roosevelt approved of the political views and policies of the radical Wisconsin Senator and, were he alive today, he would favor La Follette's election to the presidency, are denounced in truly Roosevelt style in a telegram from the late president's sister, Mrs. Corrie Roosevelt Robinson.

Affirming her conviction that her brother, if living would be fighting for Coolidge and Dawes, Mrs. Robinson referred to the fact that Roosevelt frequently excoriated La Follette as a menace to this country. Her wire follows:

"My brother, Theodore Roosevelt, denounced La Follette in 1912, in 1917 and in 1918 as the most dangerous and sinister influence in America. Any Roosevelt Progressive who gets behind Robert La Follette is a traitor to Theodore Roosevelt. I am convinced were my brother alive he would be fighting for Coolidge and Dawes, as I am."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP IN ITALY

Here is the language of Mussolini in criticism of government ownership in Italy:

"In justice to Italy all major owned and operated public utilities of the state must be returned to private ownership. Users of public utility service are securing that service at the cost of taxpayers who do not use it. Farmers who do not use electricity are taxed to support the great hydro-electric companies owned by the state, while people who do not ride on trains or use them very heavily for freight must pay taxes to maintain roads used by heavy travelers and shippers.

"Railroad workers practically own the state railroads and operate them for their own good. Numbers of employees and wages have increased out of all proportion. Service is poor, rates are three times as high as they were seven years ago, and there are deficits where there were profits."

Republican Economy

Meams Good Business
Here are facts:

Department of Treasury; a decrease of $2,041,000,000 in annual cost of government.

Dept. of War; $85,000,000 saved in 1923. Expenditures 1924 $752,985,235 less than 1921.

Dept. of Navy: saving of nearly $500 million a year.

Dept. of Post Office deficit reduced $117 million 8 years.

An Empire Builder's Creed of Success

James J. Hill, builder of the great railroad systems that opened to the world the vast riches of the Northwest, said:

"If you want to know whether you are destined to be a success or not, you will find out easily. The test is simple and infallible. Are you able to save money? If not, drop out. You will lose. You may think not, but you will lose as sure as fate, for the seed of success is not in you."

The Intelligent Grocer

DO YOU remember when, some years ago, the side shows first began to feature the "intelligent pig?" Intelligence in an unexpected place, in a proverbially stupid animal. Nowadays the public is beginning to hear of something almost equally astonishing, the "intelligent grocer." A grocer knowing something about the foods he sells! Look up one and buy something of him before the show people catch him.

Work and Vote for Coolidge, Who Will Keep Protective Tariff Secure for California

Betrayal of California.

If there be one group of citizens in these United States who should carefully study each minute angle of a political situation before marking a ballot, it is the Agricultural Group.

Upon the prosperity of the farmer depends the prosperity of a nation. That's an economic axiom.

The farmer MAKES prosperity for both industry and labor in the large city. When the farmer is prosperous, he has the money to buy what the city man has to sell. And what the city man has to sell is the product of skilled labor.

So, in the final analysis, the volume of city business and the low tide or peak employment of labor in the city, depends directly on the ability of the farmer to buy the products of the city.

Consequently, agriculturists, and particularly those of California should well weigh the worth of any presidential candidates before supporting him at the polls. When the nation's prosperity rests in their hands, it is their duty as loyal citizens to support the candidate who, knowing their needs, has hastened to their assistance. Likewise, it is their duty to repudiate a candidate who turned a deaf ear to a Congressional effort to protect their interests.

It is for the California farmer, and the California manufacturer and distributor, then, that the following facts are presented.

California's Rehabilitation.

When the Republican administration came into office it applied itself to the re-establishment of prosperity, the result of which efforts were felt no where more quickly than in California.

A national employment conference was called and within the space of a few months ways and means were provided to give employment to the four and a half million idle men.

Funds long overdue were provided the railroads to make the nation's transportation system again effective for the purpose of the manufacturer and the farmer; this work alone gave employment to thousands of men.

Credits were extended the farmer and the business man.

Going to the roots of the whole situation the Fordney-McCumber tariff was passed, placing an effective protective barrier between the products of cheap European-Oriental labor and those of American citizens.

The result was that the spending and buying power of the nation increased by leaps and bounds. Within three months exports increased $212,000,000 as compared with the same period under the Underwood law of 1921 and government revenues mounted $42,000,000.

And nowhere in the Union has greater benefit been derived from this protection than in California, which provides so large a part of the nation's food supply.

An Enemy of California.

In recalling what the Fordney-McCumber Republican prospertiy tariff has done for California, it is interesting to turn back the pages of Congressional history and see what La Follette, who now seeks the support of the electors of this state as the candidate of the Socialists, did to relieve the business and agricultural interests of California.

In every instance La Follette obstructed these protection measures, either by voting "no" or failing to vote at all.

The Sugar Industry.

Sugar, for instance, affects the employment of a vast number of wage earners in California; it produces $8,500,000 annually in wages in this state; it represents a total investment of $60,000,000 in this state and an annual output of $92,400,000. To protect the sugar business of California and other sugar producing states the Republican administration adopted a protective tariff of 2.2 cents per pound.

L aFollette on seven roll calls refused to raise his hand to back this movement, failing to vote on any one of these calls.

At another time, however, during the 67th Congress La Follette voted "yes" on an amendment to lower the tariff on Cuban sugar from 1.4 cents to .71 following a prolonged discussion that demonstrated the destructiveness of such reduction to our own sugar beet industry.

The Poultry Industry.

California s poultry business, which has an annual output of $50,000,000, was nearly extinguished by placing eggs on the free list and flooding the American markets with cheap Chinese eggs. The Republicans came to the rescue of this industry by adopting a tariff of 8 cents a dozen on imported eggs.

The poultrymen of California, like the other agricultural groups in this state, got no support from LaFollette when the Fordney-McCumber bill came to a vote.

La Follette Against Cal. Prosperity.

And so all the way through the list of California's major industries which the Republican administration sought to protect by a tariff, La Follette showed this same attitude favoring foreign labor and foreign products.

The only exception to this, however, is noted in La Follette's attitude towards the products of his own state. He consistently voted for the highest rate proposed on all agricultural and dairy products produced by Wisconsin and voted against any tariff on products not produced in his own state.

Olive Oil

He voted against a tariff on olive oil because Wisconsin does not grow olives, but voted for the highest rate proposed on linseed and flaxseed oil because Wisconsin produces the raw material from which these oils are made.

Citrus Fruits, Almonds, Walnuts, Rice.

He voted against a tariff on citrus fruits, almonds and walnuts grown in California, but advocated a high duty on honey because honey is produced in his state. California's rice men received no support from La Follette in their efforts to secure protection from foreign rice. The answer of La Follette to their pleadings was "no", but he did vote for a tariff on metal hooks and eyes and pants buttons because some of his strongest constituents are engaged in the manufacture of these. When the tariff bill came up for final passage La Follette ran true to form by failing to vote.

La Follette and the Japanese.

Then as a climax of this devotion on the part of La Follette in behalf of California's welfare, it is interesting to note that in the culmination of California's years of struggle to keep this state free of Orientals, when the Japanese exclusion measure so overwhelmingly supported by loyal Californians came up for voe.

La Follette Failed to Vote.

There has been no maan in Washington whose record proves to be a greater enemy to the interests and welfare of California than La Follette, the Socialist candidate.

Fall Hats Achieve Becoming Brim Lines

The brim's the thing—with which fall and winter millinery will undertake to make itself irresistibly becoming. The beloved little brimless cloche, that reigned so long, could not be replaced—except by hats just as flattering and offering more variety and novelty. Here are two of its successors made of velvet and trimmed with ostrich, typical of the new modes. The hat at the top is of the sort that artists delight in—a romantic type with a soft ostrich plume falling from its brim. The other is a daring and ingenious shape, with a strong flavor of Spanish modes. A "feather duster" ornament and two cabochons of silk-covered cord, serve to finish it. The saucy feather ornament is made of ostrich flues.

Driver Who Slouches Is Never Really at Ease

According to a writer in American Motorist, half the pleasure in motoring comes with learning to manipulate your car with ease and grace.

"Correct form of driving," says this writer, "means minimum drain on the pocketbook. Velvety stops and starts prevent unusual strains on the motor, clutch, transmission, axles and tires. They also cut down the consumption of gasoline and oil. A well-made motor, like a Swiss watch, is a sensitive thing. It resents abuse, but responds willingly, capably, to gentle handling. Starting an automobile is an art. I believe somebody else has said that, but never mind.

"Simple though the act may be, there are plenty of drivers who never acquire the finished way of doing it. The master driver aims to create a steady pull on the driving mechanism from the moment he slips into first speed until the car is under full headway. Learn to accelerate simultaneously with letting in the clutch. The mechanical act of gear shifting can be learned in five minutes."

Samuel L. Randolph, who has served on the San Quentin prison staff for thirty years, has been made deputy warden by the prison board. He is the prison executive officer and captain of the yard, and during his time there has handled more than 30,000 prisoners. He is the originator of the "garden beautiful" idea, and has directed the prisoners in planting of a flower garden. When refractory prisoners are brought before him he sends them into the garden for a "breathing spell" to forget their discontent. His system has won high praise and has been found very satisfactory in the handling of men who are giving authorities trouble.

"California in Miniature," the largest relief map ever constructed, is receiving its final touches in the Ferry building at San Francisco, in preparation for the unveiling which will take place November 19. A banquet, to which representatives from every community in the state will be invited, is to be held in the Ferry building. More than 1,000 guests are expected. The map will show the contour of the land, with every stream and valley, every town and crossroad, every forest area and every ranch.

Committee reports to be made at a meeting of the Pacific coast regional advisory board at San Francisco, November 21, will throw considerable light on the condition of California industries, with particular reference to transportation. A highly specialized committee has been appointed for each group of California commodities and they will report on existing transportation conditions affecting the industry in this territory

Parking law violators in Los Angeles may soon have to recover their offending cars in the same manner the owner of a stray dog recovers his pet. Capt. Cleveland Heath of the police traffic bureau, proposes to establish an automobile pound exactly like a dog pound. A car found parked over the time limit, in a loading zone, or in front of a fire plug would be taken to the pound instead of being tagged.

The Sacramento Ministerial union went on record in opposition to the teaching of evolution in the public schools. The vote was nine to eight and was preceded by vigorous debate on the subject. The resolution, on which the vote was taken, was "that the Ministerial union disapproves of the teaching of evolution on the ground that the schools are not qualified to present the theory."

S. district court in San Francisco was signed by Federal Judge Frank H. Kerrigan. Transfer was effected through a stipulation signed by Jesse Carter, district attorney of Shasta county.

R. H. Elder, reported killed in the Canadian army during the World war, has visited Redding in search of his brother, J. S. Elder of Pitville, who believes him dead. Since the war R. H. Elder has been in Alaska. Correspondence between the brothers ceased before the war.

Four suits brought by Owens valley ranchers against the city of Los Angeles, involving the city's right to pump underground waters into its acqueduct, were brought to a quick conclusion when the city compromised by buying out the holdings of the four rancher litigants.
